Sam's goal is to teach riders how to offer clear and effective communication with the horse to create a trusting and respectful equine partnership. Refine understanding your horse's behavior, how to influence his thought and achieve soft physical response. This is an opportunity to learn in a supportive, noncritical environment with both individual and group instruction. Horse behavior, anatomical lectures, tack usage & fitting, overall health care and much more will be addressed! Clinics are adapted to offer and address appropriate, realistic confidence building skills with lasting, long-term results. All level riders and horses welcome. Limit 6 participants, auditors encouraged.
